
Sharing Services, Inc.

A diversified travel holdings company

Executive Overview

Overview

Sharing Services (SHRV) is a travel and technology management company with diversified holdings in the $8 trillion dollar vacation and leisure industry. From group trips (called Crowd Vacations) to a wholesale booking engine, from seminars on vacation (known as Vacationars™) to a direct selling model using home-based entrepreneurs who are sharing our products and services.

Unique to Sharing Services, Inc. is the ability to garner hundreds of millions of views on targeted Facebook videos geared towards vacation and leisure destinations. These targeted leads become potential customers of our various services and offers, enabling the Sharing Services group of companies to acquire consumers without the tens of billions spent on traditional advertising by the other online travel giants.

Possibly the most relevant initiative of Sharing Services is its plans for "Vacation Financing". As the owners of VacationFunding.com, the company intends to tackle the market segment of travelers that don't go on vacation every year due to lack of upfront resources. According to Expedia's Vacation Deprivation Study, there are as many as 550 million vacation days left unused each year by employees of U.S. companies, due to people not having enough money to take their family on vacation. VacationFunding.com will allow people to make payments on their vacations, including the airfare, so that more families may enjoy an actual vacation, rather than a localized "Staycation" they can drive to.

1st Year Objective

Use "Social Alchemy" to exponentially grow.

The opportunity to acquire market share of vacationers in the travel industry without traditional advertising through our "social alchemy" is unparalleled. Combined with relationship marketing, Sharing Services, Inc.'s first year goal is 1 million members of the subscription based PathAways travel community. Combined with a wholesale booking engine and other deals not available to the public, incentive programs will help exponentially grow the database of customers through powerful offers and even cash rewards for customers sharing with their friends, family, co-workers and neighbors.

Operational Expansion

Becoming a global group of companies.

Sharing Services, Inc. has brought in travel pioneers of the online travel industry, along with other strategic partnerships who will help create the ability to expand beyond U.S. borders into other countries. The whole world is online and can access travel from any country in the world, but offers and value propositions vary from country to country. Having the right footprint and deals, specific to regions is a key part of a successful travel community. Sharing Services, Inc. has positioned itself to be a global leader with real values to end user consumer, almost no matter where they live in the world.

Sharing Services, Inc. plans to open offices in S. E. Asia by the end of 2017 and in a 3-5 plan, is targeting 10 million members within its group of companies.

Blue Ocean Strategies

Render the competition irrelevant.

By creating unique offers, brands and opportunity to travelers and their families while utilizing social alchemy, Sharing Services is poised to create its own market segment with the $8 trillion travel industry. From Vacationars™ to CrowdVacations.com, from VacationFunding.com to wholesale travel, we're well on our way to building the next evolution of online travel to the world.
